NATIVE MUTINY IN IND-CHINA.

TROOPS AND "REBELS" COMBINE.

FRENCH OFFICER KILLED IN ENSUING FIGHT.

ORDER NOT RESTORED.

Discontent in Indo-China led to a pitched battle between French troops and mutineers yesterday, according to a message from Hanoi, received through Reuter's correspondent in Paris.

The message states, that following revolutionary agitation, natives joined the battalion of "Sharp-shooters" garrisoned at Yen-bai, in an attempted mutiny.

In the ensuing fight, which is described as "fairly serious", several were killed, including a French officer.

Steps have been taken to restore order.

Nationalism in Annam.

The above message is believed to convey the first important news to the outside world of a political situation which has been rapidly moving towards a crisis in the French Colony and Protectorate of Indo-China.

The spectacular progress, made by the Chinese towards the attainment of Nationalism, always watched with the keenest interest by other Asiatic peoples, has stirred, as it is said, the native population of the French Colony, between whom and the Chinese so many things have existed in common.

It has been, consequently, not without reason that the French administration has viewed with apprehension the possible effects of local repugnances, and their fears would appear to be justified, in the existence of no less than four secret societies, recently discovered, working for revolt through active minds full of enthusiasm derived from contact with agitators in China.

French Reinforcements.

The French authorities have been quick to take action. The native military units which go to make the major proportion of the garrison of the Colony, have been distributed.

The first step, therefore, was to increase the French military reserves with reinforcements from France.

The second, and more difficult task, was to check the influence of Communism and militant Nationalism.

When the late Dr. Sun Yat-sen was alive, he was particularly sympathetic towards the Annamite Nationalists. He took into his service men on whose loyalty he could count in return for the support he was able to extend them in their activities. That gradually led to a situation where Canton became a place of refuge and the seat of political tutelage for the malcontents.

Annamite Cadets.

At one time, the Whampoa Military Academy numbered no fewer than 300 Annamite cadets amongst its personnel. When this institution was broken up the foreign cadets were dispersed.

A number were held by the administration of Li Chai-sum, and finally handed over to the French authorities.

Others escaped, and it is this untraced number who are now believed to have taken a leading part in the agitation now proceeding against the French administration in Indo-China.

A recent French periodical received from Saigon identified these students with a sporadic outbreak which occurred not very long ago in that part of the country.

2,000 Arrests.

Similarly, their influence has been discovered in recent investigations carried out by the Surete, which extended throughout the length and breadth of Indo-China.

Within the last few months, it is estimated that no fewer than 2,000 arrests have been made in efforts to break up the four Nationalist organisations that have come into existence.

REMARKABLE SHIP DISASTER.

GERMAN LINER SINKS IN N. Y. HARBOUR.

EXPLOSIONS ABOARD.

New York, Feb. 11.

One of the most remarkable shipping disasters of recent times occurred in New York Harbour to-day, the German liner "Muenchen" from Bremen, sinking as a result of explosions aboard soon after she had docked.

Passengers reaching the United States, on board the ship, which was a fourteen thousand ton steamer of comparatively recent build, had a wonderful escape from possible death or injury.

They had just disembarked and were awaiting at the pier on the Hudson River for their baggage to be cleared by the Customs when they were startled by a series of explosions.

The crew of the Muenchen tumbled ashore as fast as they could as the vessel burst into flames and belched volumes of suffocating smoke from her cargo of nitrates.

The vessel speedily sank.

Three firemen who were hurled into the Hudson River by the explosions are missing, and seven of the crew, including the captain, were injured.

The cause of the explosions, which caused the loss of the ship so rapidly, are not yet known. Reuter's American Service.

THE PROHIBITION OF MUI-TSAI.

ACTION BY THE CANTON MUNICIPALITY.

Canton, Feb. 11.

An echo of the recent agitation against the keeping of mui tai in Hongkong was heard here yesterday when a resolution on the subject was passed at the 10th meeting of the Canton Municipal Council.

The resolution reads:—"That the amended regulations jointly prepared by the Land Office, the Bureau of Education and the Bureau of Finance for prohibiting the keeping of mui tai in Canton, be passed."

Those present at the meeting which passed this resolution included Mr. Lam Wen-koi, (Mayor of Canton), Mr. Luk Yau-kwong, Mr. Ching Tin-ku, Dr. Wu Pak-liang, Mr. Ho Kai-lai, Mr. Ho Chee-cheong, Mr. Fung Nai, and Mr. Wong Tok-sing. Our Own Correspondent.

INFURIATED MOB IN CLEVELAND.

SERIOUS RIOTS AROUND CITY HALL.

New York, Feb. 11.

A serious riot occurred at Cleveland, Ohio, today when twelve hundred men and women, alleged to be Communists demanding increased unemployment doles, attempted to force their way into a meeting of the City Council at the Town Hall.

The infuriated mob appeared to be getting the upper hand but large reinforcements of police, accompanied by the Fire Brigade arrived, and eventually restored order.

The police used their truncheons freely against the mob. Twenty of the demonstrators and two policemen were injured in the melee. Numerous rioters were herded into lorries and rushed to jail. The Fire Brigade used their hoses in assisting the police. Reuter's American Service.

SUBMARINE'S USE RESTRICTED.

DEFINITE DECISION BY CONFERENCE.

MR. STIMSON THOROUGHLY SATISFIED.

EVENTUAL ABOLITION.

London, Feb. 11.

There was a decision—tentative, but definite—at today's plenary meeting on the subject of submarines, declares Mr. L. L. Stimson, the principal American delegate to the Naval Conference, in the course of a statement issued to-night.

The five Powers have agreed to restrict the use of submarines against merchant ships to the same rules as are applied to surface vessels.

"I regard that single incident as worth the visit of the American delegation to London," he adds.

Step Towards Abolition.

It is thought that the debate marked a step in the direction of the eventual abolition of the submarine, and the delegations supporting abolition are particularly pleased that the motion for the restriction of the use of submarines originated with the French delegation, who have so far been the keenest opponents of abolition.

British Reductions.

In the House of Commons to-day, Lt.-Col. C. K. Howard-Bury (Cons.) asked if the Australian Government was consulted in regard to the latest reductions in cruisers and destroyers, prior to the announcement of their reduction.

Mr. Ramsay MacDonald replied in the negative. He said that the Australian Government had been fully apprised of the general consideration of policy on which the decision of His Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom was based.

Exactly the Opposite!

Lt.-Col. Howard-Bury asked whether the Prime Minister was aware that there was great uneasiness and anxiety in Australia with regard to the future of the Singapore Base and the reductions in cruisers and destroyers.

Mr. Ramsay MacDonald: "As far as I am concerned, I am aware of exactly the opposite!"

American Dissent.

Washington, Feb. 11.

Opposition to the American proposal at the London Naval Conference that the United States be permitted to build a battleship of the Rodney type was voiced in Congress to-day by Senator Borah in the Senate, and by Mr. Britten in the House of Representatives.

Senator Borah declared that the United States did not want parity if it involved the spending of millions of dollars on a useless "king ship." He counselled: "Scrap a Rodney. That will settle the proposition." Reuter's American Service.

Result of Session.

London, Feb. 11.

At today's plenary session of the Naval Conference, the total abolition of the submarine was urged by the British and American delegates, while its retention, as a defensive weapon, was advocated by the French and Japanese. The British Dominion delegates concurred generally with the view of the British Government and the Italian delegation declared itself willing to abolish submarines if all the other Powers did the same.

The session agreed to refer to the First Committee resolutions proposed by the American and French.

The American resolution was that the Committee should report upon the possibility of an agreement on the following questions, firstly the abolition of submarines, secondly, the regulation of the use of the submarine through subjecting it to the rules of war governing the use of surface craft; and thirdly, the regulation of the size of submarines. (Continued on Page 7.)

WINDFALLS FOR MR. SNOWDON.

GETS OVER £2,000,000 IN DEATH DUTIES.

TWO HUGE FORTUNES.

London, Feb. 11.

From two estates in respect of which probate has just been granted, the National Exchequer will receive in death duties no less a sum than £2,350,000.

The larger of these estates is that of the late Lord Forteviot, who was Chairman of the well-known distilling firm of John Dewar and Sons. He left a fortune of £4,405,000.

During his life-time, the late Lord Forteviot made munificent bequests to social institutions, notably in Perth, his native town, of which he was Lord Provost from 1893 to 1899, and he was particularly interested in housing reform.

The Exchequer will benefit in death duties to the amount of £1,700,000 from this estate.

Another fortune of £1,702,000 has been left by the late Mr. Gerard Craig Sellar, a director of various companies. He was at one time Private Secretary to the late Mr. Joseph Chamberlain.

From this estate, a sum of £550,000 falls to the Exchequer in death duties. British Wireless.

On the arrival in port of the s.s. Tijnanas yesterday, the officers handed over to the police two men who had secretly gone on board at Sandakan in an attempt to stow away to Hongkong.

When the men were found they offered to pay £15 each as their passage, but it was pointed out to them that the fare would be $50.

The men were brought before Mr. Whyte Smith at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning and each fined $25 or one month's hard labour.

The master of a cargo boat was fined $5 at the Marine Court this morning before the Hon. Commr. G. E. Hole for mooring his boat with 846 cases of firecrackers on board, at the Yumati Typhoon Shelter instead of at the Dangerous Goods Anchorage. The defendant stated that he was discharging cargo there, but was told by his Watchman that he should have taken out a permit for that purpose.

INDIAN WATCHMEN & LICENCES.

POLICE CONSTRUCTION ON THE LAW.

MUST BE CARRIED EVEN IF NOT ON DUTY.

CAUTION BY COURT.

The question of whether Indian watchmen are required to carry their licences when off duty was again argued at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning, when, in accordance with his Worship's request, Mr. W. le Bart Sparrow, A.S.P. for Kowloon, appeared before Mr. Whyte Smith at the Kowloon Magistracy in connexion with a summons taken out against a private watchman who was charged with failing to carry his licence. Eventually, after considerable argument, the Magistrate registered a caution.

Mr. Sparrow said that he had gone into the question of watchmen's licences and argued that the Regulations clearly intended that watchmen should carry their licences at all times, whether they were on duty or not, the words "at all times" being construed in that way.

Case of Motorists.

His Worship intimated that he required some authority on the point, and asked if the police would insist on motorists carrying their licences at all times even when they were not driving.

Mr. Sparrow replied that in that event they would not be asked for their licences, but in the case of watchmen they might be asked for their licences at any time.

His Worship asked if it were reasonable to expect watchmen to carry their licences when not on duty.

To Prevent Transference.

Mr. Sparrow replied that he thought it was. The idea was to prevent watchmen on duty during the day from transferring their licences to men working at night. In the present case, the defendant had gone to the Guards' Office to make an application and when he was asked for his licence he failed to produce it. On that occasion it was clearly his duty to have had the licence on him.

His Worship said in that case he would have thought the best thing to do would have been for the officer to have followed the matter up and seen where the licence was at that moment.

Mr. Sparrow said he could only say that that was in the discretion of the officer who was present at the time. That was not done, and it was impossible to say if the defendant had disposed of his licence or not.

Small Fine Suggested.

However, he now had his licence and, under the circumstances, he (Mr. Sparrow) thought a small fine and a caution would meet the case in order to bring to the notice of all watchmen that it was essential to have their licences on them either when on duty or not.

Mr. Sparrow mentioned that this was the first case that had been brought against a watchman for not having his licence when off duty.

His Worship pointed out to the defendant that he would have to be more careful in future and registered a caution.

SERIOUS CLASH ON BORDER.

FOUR CHINESE SOLDIERS REPORTED SHOT.

SINO-SOVIET TROUBLE.

Mukden, Feb. 11.

A serious fracas between Chinese and Russian troops on the Manchurian border, resulting in the wounding of four Chinese and the arrest of four of the Soviet soldiers, threatens to add further difficulties to already delicate Sino-Soviet relations.

The incident occurred on Sunday, and it appears that two small parties of rival forces came across one another while engaged on patrol duty. A quarrel developed and the Soviet group, ten in number, opened fire, it is alleged, on the Chinese. Four Chinese soldiers were seriously wounded and are now lying in hospital.

A larger body of Chinese troops appeared on the scene, giving chase to the "Reds" and effecting the capture of four of their number.

The Manchurian Government has been in communication with the Soviet Consul-General at Harbin, informing him that the Soviet soldiers will be handed over to Soviet control if guarantees for their punishment are forthcoming. The Consul is reported to have replied demanding the immediate release of the men in custody unconditionally.

Meanwhile there is alarm on the border, where residents fear a resumption of the Soviet attacks as a result of the incident.

HONGKONG'S NEW TELEPHONES.

AUTOMATIC SYSTEM DELAYED.

CHANGE-OVER NOT LIKELY BEFORE APRIL.

TALK NERVE CENTRE.

Hongkong's automatic telephones are not likely to come into operation until April, the Telephone Company was informed this morning. The change-over was expected to take place this month, but unforeseen delays have occurred.

The equipment, however, is almost ready. The interior of the Exchange in Exchange Building is filled with delicate electrical machinery which is to be, as it were, the clearing-house, or nerve centre, for the talk of the Colony. When it is operation, all that will be heard will be a clatter of switches, not to be understood by any but the initiated.

Nearing Completion.

A very large European staff has been imported from London for the work now nearing completion. An army of Chinese artisans and labourers has been assisting the British staff which numbers 12, and the entire force has been engaged on the work since the middle of last year.

The mechanism of the automatic exchange is perhaps the most intricate and delicate of modern machinery. Extraordinary precautions are necessary to guard the precious units, one of them being the housing of the entire equipment in dust proof room.

Air Through Fan.

On the roof of the Telephone Company's building a large concrete pit box has been erected. Inside the thick walls is housed a plant much like that of a refrigerator, the purpose of which is to keep the temperature of the exchange room the same throughout the year.

Air is pumped into this chamber and in turn is passed through to the exchange by means of pipe lines, after it has been cooled by electric fans. In this way the temperature of the exchange is regulated, and dust is entirely excluded.

Steel Protectors.

The intricate mechanism through which one subscriber is connected to another is treated with a care that surprises the layman. To a great switch are attached scores of instruments which control the connexions.

All of the units are protected by strong steel containers, which are only removed during periodical inspections, or when something goes wrong.

Human Element.

The human element, of course, is practically eliminated, the only people necessary for the effective working of the new exchange being telephone experts, to whom the complicated mechanism is second nature. Mishaps are to be expected in the early days but as the public becomes better acquainted with the complexities, these will decrease to a minimum.

The Telephone Company has installed a miniature exchange at Messrs. Lane, Crawford's, to show to the public the whole process of getting a number, through, the automatic system. For this purpose a switchboard has been erected with a telephone at either end. The dial at one end is worked, and the bell of the other telephone tinkles when the connexion is made. The whole process may be observed as the switch makes the connexion.

How Long Does It Take?

Telephone Company officials have been greatly amused by the number of enquiries made as to how long it takes to secure a connexion through the automatic system. It is, of course, quite impossible to lay down a time limit, as so much depends on the time the subscriber called takes to answer the telephone. (Continued on Page 12.)

CAPTIVE'S RELEASE ARRANGED.

ALLEGED PIRATE AGENTS IN THE COLONY.

The story of how two men came into Police hands at the conclusion of negotiations for the release of a passenger captured by the pirates who attacked the s.s. Deli Maru, in October, was told at the Central Magistracy yesterday afternoon. The two men were charged with acting as the agents for the pirates in negotiating for the ransom of the captive. The first charge was one of feloniously corresponding with pirates. Another was of threatening injury to the captive, while the two men were also accused of conspiring with others unknown to obtain $11,000 from persons who were negotiating on behalf of the captive. There were four charges in all.

The first accused was represented by Mr. Covey, the other not being defended. Mr. Somerset Fitzroy appeared for the Police and outlined the case at great length, the case being taken before Mr. Grantham.

Shanghai Friends.

Cheung Ting-yuet was the first witness called. He said he was a teacher in the National University at Nanjing, and was well acquainted with the captive, Mr. Hsu, having known him for several years. "I became acquainted with the fact that he was on the Deli Maru and was taken away by pirates; also with the fact that a ransom was asked for his release. Messrs. Malcolm, of Shanghai, by whom the captive was employed, were interested in his release, as were also the latter's relatives."

"After several conversations with the relatives of Mr. Hsu I came down to Hongkong, accompanied by Mr. Chan Ho-pui, who was with the same firm as Mr. Hsu. We arrived here on October 22 last and went to the Great Eastern Hotel where we took a room. I registered in my own name, but Mr. Chan registered himself as Hsu Ho-hoi which was the name which anybody who came to Hongkong for the purpose of the negotiations was to register, according to the instructions contained in the letter received from the men who were holding Mr. Hsu."

"When I first saw the first accused, it was on October 26, four days after my arrival. He introduced himself to us at the Great Eastern Hotel and having satisfied himself that we came on behalf of Mr. Hsu, began the negotiations. I could not speak Cantonese, but by speaking Mandarin slowly, we could make ourselves understood. He said he was asked by Mr. Hsu's friends 'of the hills' to arrange the ransom, and told us to write a letter which was to be sent to Mr. Hsu at the hills. The letter was written and handed to the accused when he called again the next day. He asked to read the letter at once, and he himself. After reading it, he said that the sum named at $800 was too small for the people of the hills, he said, wanted $60,000."

"We replied that Mr. Hsu was but a poor man and his family could not raise such a big sum. He then said he would forward the letter and told us to expect an answer at the end of ten days. Meanwhile, he asked for $40 or $50 as expenses incidental to the forwarding of the letter, and we gave him $20."

"On leaving, he intimated that he would be coming again within a couple of days, and advised us to move to the Tai Loy Boarding House, as it was very expensive living at the Great Eastern. On the following day, we took a room at the Tai Loy."

"We stayed at the Tai Loy, and I then decided to go back North. Leaving my companion behind, I (Continued on Page 10.)

ALLEGED BRIBERY.

POLICE FACE SERIOUS CHARGES.

Following the arrests, recently, of two men, of Taikoo, on charges of trafficking in illicit opium, certain disclosures were made by the men with the result that a Shanghai Chinese constable and a Northern Chinese constable were detained and subsequently arraigned before the Kowloon Magistrate on allegations of accepting bribes.

The proceedings against the two men were commenced before Mr. Whyte Smith, at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday afternoon, when the senior of the two police officers faced no less than eight charges, while the constable was indicted on two counts.

Mr. L. R. Andrews, Assistant Crown Solicitor, conducted the case for the prosecution and Mr. J. M. Remedios represented the Shanghai Sergeant.

The first charge against the sergeant was that, being on duty at Mongkok, on January 28, with instructions to visit ten Police constables on duty on certain Police beats under his supervision and to obtain the chops of such ten constables on a Section chit in his possession he was wrongfully in possession of three chops of similar design, pattern and number to those carried by three of such constables, with the intention of evading his duty. An additional charge was preferred against the defendant accusing him of being in possession of forged dies.

The other six charges were in respect of accepting bribes from three different people of Kramer Street, three of the indictments being alternative charges.

The second defendant was charged with receiving a bribe from one of the men mentioned in the charges against the first defendant and, alternatively, of misconducting himself as a Police officer.

Crown Case.

Opening his case, Mr. Andrews said that he would deal with the first charge and the additional count which he had only just put in. Mr. Sparrow, A.S.P., would tell the Court that on the night of January 28 he searched the first defendant as he was about to go on his beat and found concealed in his cap three chops of similar design, pattern and shape to those carried by three constables on the sergeant's beat.

Mr. Sparrow then sent Sergeant Carruthers out to the three constables, whose chops were apparently in the possession of the sergeant, and the men were taken back to the Police Station. On arrival at the Station they produced their chops which were found in the first defendant's possession were evidently forgeries.

Continuing, Mr. Andrews said that the first defendant, in his capacity as Police Sergeant, went on duty for a term of four hours and during that time had to visit and the constables in his Section and secure the impressions of their chops which they carried with them. The section chit was chopped by each constable.

The inference, which naturally came to one's mind, said Mr. Andrews, was that if the sergeant had duplicate chops he was evading the duty of visiting the constables on his beat and that he had chopped the section chit himself.

When charged with having the duplicate chops, the defendant said that because the beats of Mongkok were too big it was impossible to walk around them in one and a half hours so he had got the chops made himself. His obvious intention was to evade his duty, added Mr. Andrews.

The Bribery Charges.

With regard to the charges of bribery against both men, evidence would be given that they had been in the practice, for some time, of demanding small bribes from persons engaged in dealing in illicit opium. The defendants agreed to take no action so long as the persons engaged in the opium traffic

AFTER 29 YEARS.

INDO-CHINA S. N. CO. OFFICIALS RETIRING.

Taking with them the goodwill and best wishes of all their colleagues and friends, Captain A. C. Kennedy and Mr. C. E. Holmes are retiring from the service of the Indo-China S. N. Co., Ltd. after an association of 29 years.

For several years Mr. Holmes has held the position of Superintendent Engineer to the Company, and Capt. Kennedy has been Marine Superintendent, and throughout they have endeavored themselves by their never failing courtesy and conscientiousness to the whole of the staff and others whom they have come in contact with.

By a curious coincidence, they both joined the Company in 1901, within a month of each other. Captain Kennedy has been Marine Superintendent for eight years and Mr. Holmes has been Superintendent Engineer for about nine years.

It is interesting to note that Mr. Holmes' father joined the Company in 1885 and was in charge of the Company's Hulk in Hankow, until his death in 1901, while he has also two brothers who are now serving with the Company as engineers.

Captain Kennedy relieved the late Captain Wheeler as Marine Superintendent in 1921. By his quiet manner and conscientious performance of his duties he has won the respect of the whole of the firm and with those whom he has been associated.

Both gentlemen are married and whereas Captain Kennedy and Mrs. Kennedy are now in Hong Kong, Mr. Holmes is joining his family at Forest Hill, where they are resident.

Entertained. Yesterday, both retiring officers were entertained to an informal farewell dinner at the Hongkong Club, the gathering being presided over by Mr. R. Sutherland, Shipping Manager of Messrs. Jardine, Matheson and Co., who, on behalf of the Indo-China S. N. Company, wished them bon voyage and commented upon the valuable services they had rendered during somewhat difficult times.

Both Captain Kennedy and Mr. Holmes remained in suitable terms of the assistance they had rendered to the firm during the performance of their duties. They also spoke fondly of the break in their friendly associations with the staff which they had always enjoyed.

agreed to pay them small sums of money.

When charged, the defendants had made statements denying the charges, the first defendant saying that it was because he had frequently searched the persons mentioned in the charges that they had accused him of accepting bribes.

After evidence had been called, the hearing was adjourned.

On the day before their wedding, the Prince of Piedmont and Princess Marie Jo-se, with the Royal wedding party, witnessed from a dais erected in front of the Quirinal Palace a parade illustrating the traditional costumes and customs of the different provinces of Italy and her possessions overseas. About 4,000 persons and 800 animals participated in the pageant, and as each group defiled before the Royal party they made offerings to Princess Marie and Prince Humbert of products characteristic of their homes. Our picture shows a scene in the square during the pageant. (Times copyright).

ENGLISH SINGERS.

GLORIOUS TRIBUTES BY AMERICAN PRESS.

No musical attraction in recent years has received such unqualified praise from the press as The English Singers, the unique ensemble of six vocalists who will give recitals here on February 14th and 15th under the management of A. Stok, at the Theatre Royal.

This group of singers has such a vogue in New York City that they gave last season six sold-out recitals to the general public and filled in addition thereto over eighty engagements with clubs and musical societies throughout the United States. An example of the sort of superlative praise bestowed upon the English Singers may be obtained from the following: Writing for the New York Times, the critic Olin Downes, said: "A concert by The English Singers is for a listener a unique and unforgettable experience, a contact with a beauty that is rare and haunting, and interpretation that in their particular kind are unparalleled on the American concert stage."

Lawrence Gilman, the able critic of the New York Herald-Tribune, added to this by stating: "It would be difficult to over-praise the triumphant skill, the unflinching taste, the insight, the delicate imaginative justice of the Singers. Their command of mood, of nuance, of rhythm, of expressive and characterizing colour, leaves one in retrospect with nothing to speak of them but delighted eulogy. They conquered their hearers—as they always do."

Mr. Samuel Chotznoff, the much-famed critic of the New York World, was moved to superlatives when he said: "It is hardly possible to describe the art of these amazing visitors—their uncanny, perfect ensemble, the beauty and variety of their nuances, their incredibly true intonations, their restraint, their pathos, their intelligence and their humour. Their art is a recreation which is almost creation, and they provided for those who were fortunate to attend their concert yesterday, an afternoon of true civilized pleasure."

CINEMA NOTES.

MARGUERITE CHURCHILL
IN "VALIANT"

Marguerite Churchill, who plays the feminine lead in the all-talking Fox Movietone production, "The Valiant," opposite Paul Muni, does not owe her high rank in filmdom to luck, to influence or to "getting a break" while playing as an "extra," as do some of the screen's leading women.

In fact, Miss Churchill never was an "extra" and although but nineteen years old, earned her distinction by hard work and ability as an actress. When but fourteen she entered the Theatre Guild Dramatic School, New York, and won the Winthrop Ames Scholarship the first term. During the next term she was awarded the Otto H. Kahn Scholarship, soon undertook ingenue roles and after a number of successful stage appearances was signed to a long term contract by Winfield Sheehan, Vice President of Fox Films.

In "The Valiant," which comes to the Queen's Theatre to-morrow, Miss Churchill has one of the strongest and most appealing characterizations of her career.

Among those sailing yesterday by the s.s. President Grant was Mr. Koo Ying-fan, Head of the Department of Civil Affairs of the Nationalist Government, returning to headquarters in Nanking from a tour of the provinces of Kwangtung and Kwangsi.

ACTIVITIES REVIEWED IN ANNUAL REPORT.

The Kowloon Bowling Green Club activities for last year are reviewed in the annual report which has just been circulated to members. The report states:

The Working Account for the Year now presented again shows a small loss, the figure being $193.72 against $287.28 in 1928. Your Committee recommend that steps be taken to augment the Club's revenue.

Membership.

Thirty-seven new members joined during the year and 29 members resigned or were struck off for various reasons. Our membership is now 1,156, 157 Ordinary, 73 Seaguing and 4 Honorary; a total of 240 members.

Club House and Grounds.

During the year the bowling green near the Club house was entirely re-laid and is at the present time in excellent condition. It is hoped to open this green for play in time for next season's League games. It was found necessary to return a portion of the far green and although it has had to stand all the play during the last 12 months its condition is still very good. Owing to the water shortage obtaining at the early part of the year it was considered advisable to sink an additional well to safeguard us against a similar occurrence and to always ensure a plentiful supply of water for our greens during the winter months. This well was completed some months ago and the present splendid condition of our turf is due in large measure to this additional water supply. With the same care and attention next year this Club should regain its reputation of having the finest greens in the Colony. All pump fittings and suction pipes together with the pipe line for watering greens have been entirely renewed. The Club house has been maintained in good condition, only a few alterations and additions being found necessary. The verandah chairs were replaced by those of a more substantial nature.

Bowls.

The usual Club competitions and games were held and keenly contested, the numbers of entries for the competitions, comparing favourably with those of former years. Two teams were entered in the Lawn Bowls League, the records of each being as follows:—

1st Team:—Played 14, won 8, lost 6, shots for 535, against 791. Position in Table 3rd.

2nd Team:—Played 14, won 10, lost 4, shots for 907, against 747. Position in Table:—Tied for 1st place with two other teams necessitating a triangular tournament for the championship in which we were not successful.

The hope expressed in last year's annual report that the teams would secure better positions in the League tables was fully realized, the positions gained being the highest for many years. With the continued enthusiasm of all our Members these positions should be improved next season.

Tennis.

The increased interest in tennis was fully maintained throughout the year and a number of successful tournaments and seven competitions were held. We entertained several clubs at home and returned the visits, the matches being thoroughly enjoyed by all who participated.

A team was entered in the Mixed Doubles League and although we occupied the bottom position in the table on completion of the fixtures the experience gained by our players fully justified us entering the League. It is hoped that during the coming year the interest will be increased to a greater extent than previously in order that once again tennis may become a popular section of the Club's activities.

Obituary.

Your General Committee regret to record the deaths of the following members during the year:—Messrs. D. Harvey, F.J. Connolly and J. MacLachlan.

Prize.

The thanks of the Club are due to donors of the numerous handsome trophies for the various competitions, also to those Members who contributed to the Prize Fund.

The prizes were distributed on the Closing Day, 21st December, 1929.

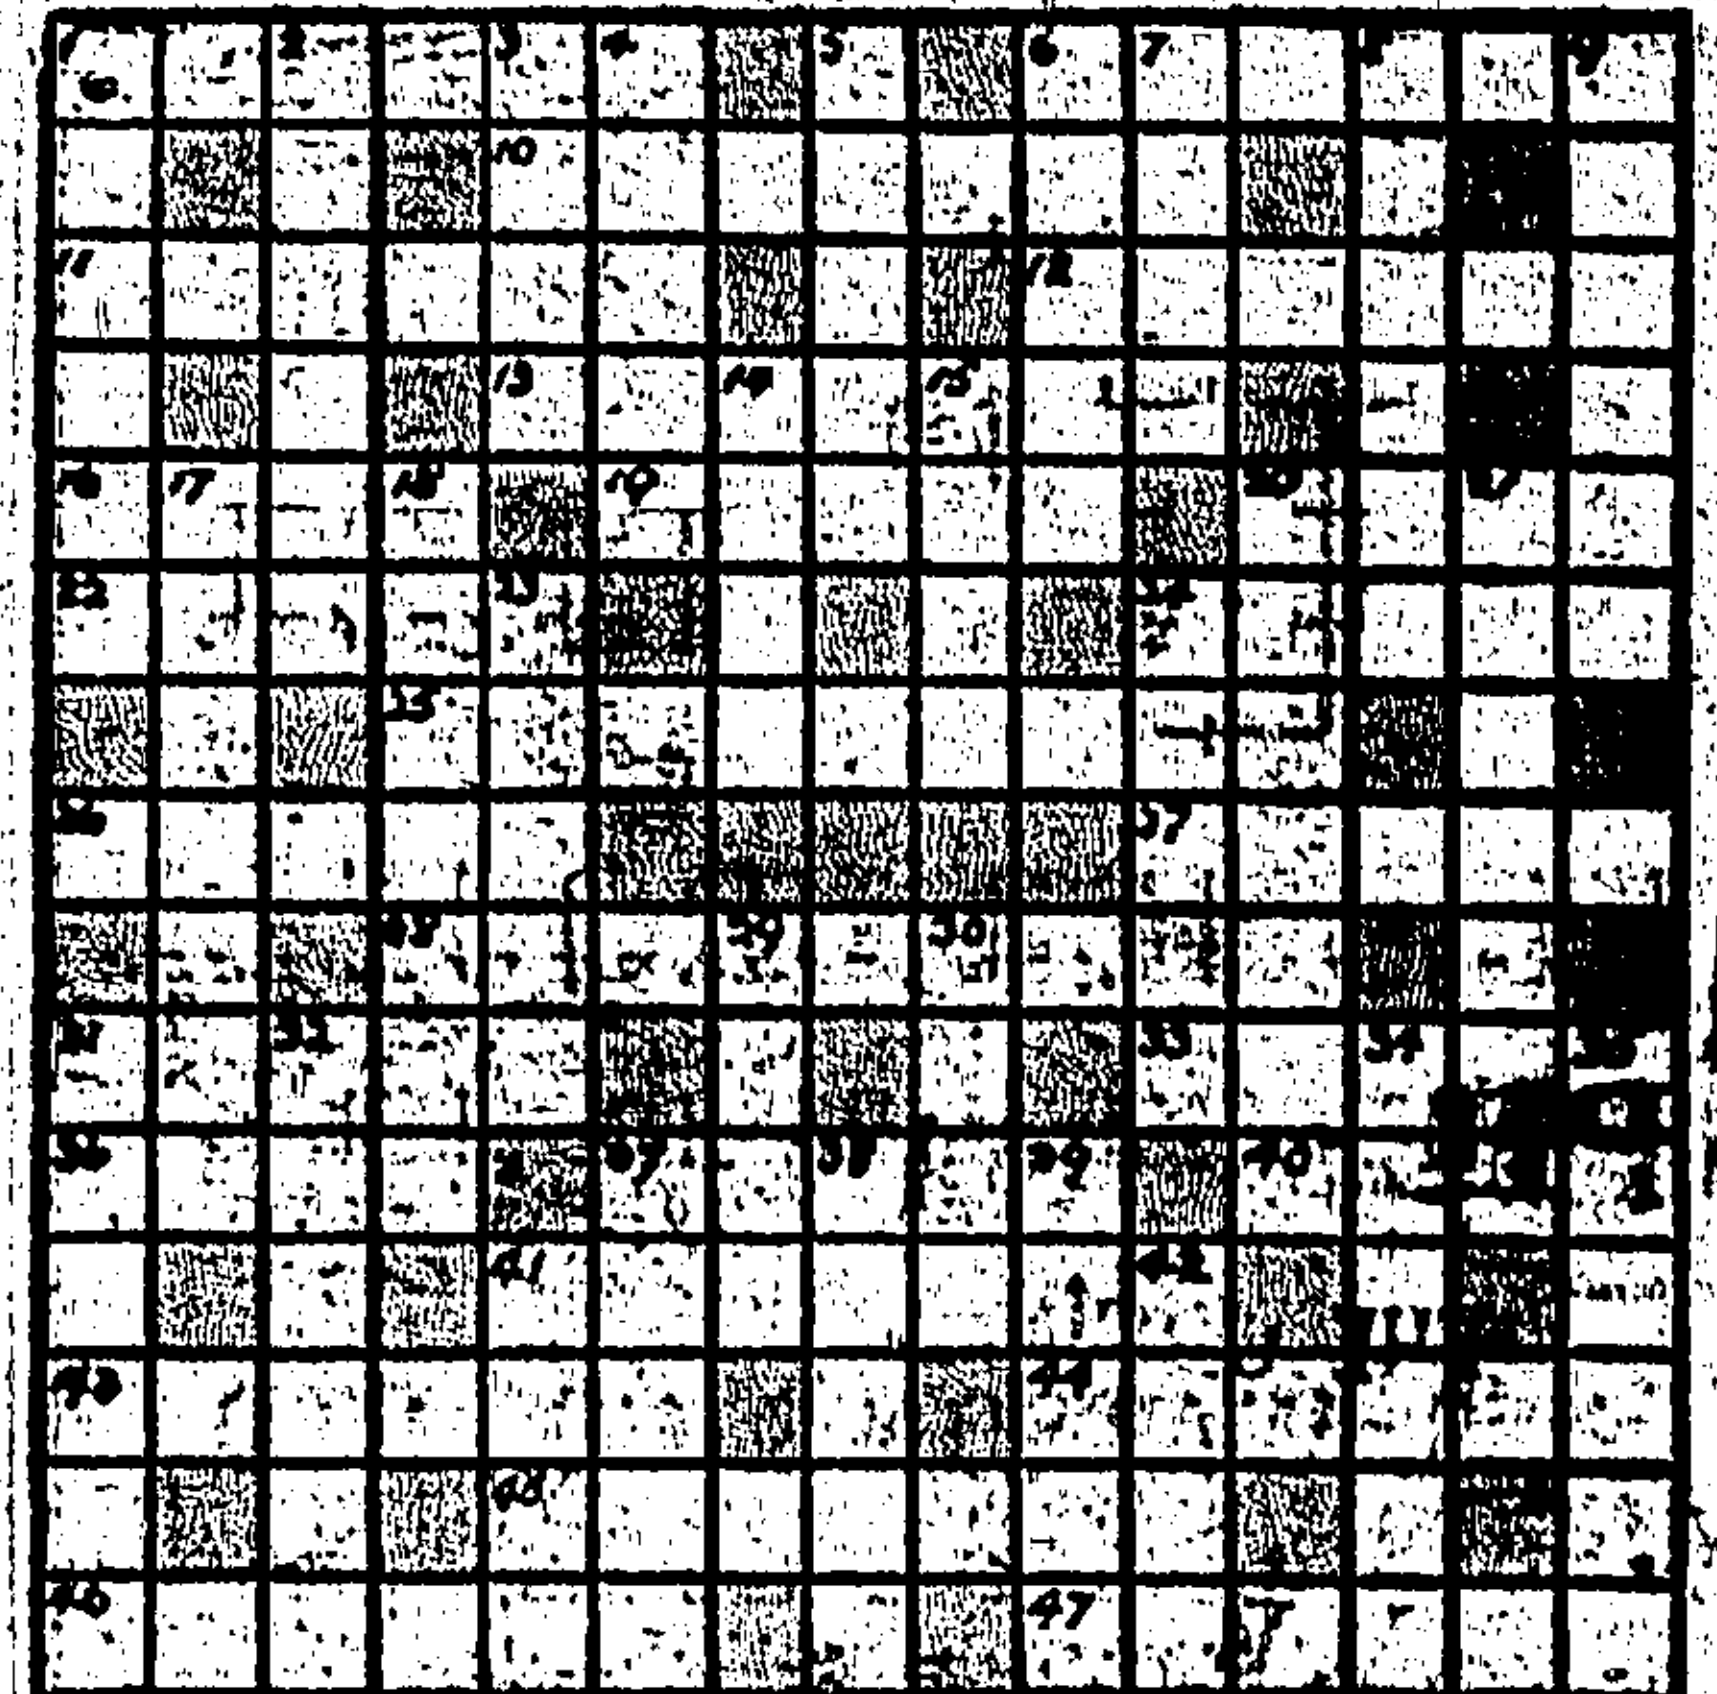

The Prize Winners.

The Competitions for 1929 were won by the following:—

Bowls.

OPIUM SMUGGLING.

It has long been established that Prohibition in regard to alcohol has not stopped liquor-drinking in the United States, and it is now being shown that the same policy applied to the drug traffic is proving ineffective in suppressing opium-smoking in the Philippines. Figures produced before the Opium Commission of the League of Nations at Geneva have shown that the system of absolute prohibition has not produced the expected results, for, despite the prohibitory law, the quantity of opium coming into the islands from China is still increasing. It is to be presumed that this statement was made during a discussion of the best ways and means of suppressing the traffic, and it is well to remember that there are two distinct schools of thought on this point. The Prohibitionists rely on their policy as offering the most effectual method of combating the evil, whilst opposed to them is the other group which believes that control is better than to attempt the impossible. The same arguments have, of course, been applied to the drink traffic. For ourselves, we incline to the view that in all these matters well-organised control is the better solution. Attempts at Prohibition almost invariably drive the evils underground; they do not suppress them.

It is interesting to note that at the very time this question of opium-smoking in the Philippines is being discussed at Geneva, the League of Nations Commission touring the Far East is in Manila, where it arrived last week for the purpose of investigating the whole drug problem in the islands. The Commission is to study every phase of the opium situation, both in Manila and in the provinces, from smuggling to smoking. Particular attention is to be paid to the southern provinces of the archipelago, including Iloilo, Cebu and portions of Mindanao, where the illicit traffic in opium, and morphine is said to be rampant, according to the report made by a special committee which some time back looked into the matter. One of the Manila journals states that the Commission's visit is invested with more than ordinary interest. "In view of the fact that opium-smoking is strictly prohibited here under regulations which are more drastic than in most Oriental countries." Despite that fact, however, the amount of smuggled opium coming into the country is increasing rather than otherwise.

The regulations notwithstanding, all manner of means are employed to get the drug into the islands. In which connexion some startling disclosures have in recent times been made of the use to which the mafia are put for this purpose.

There is another point that should be stressed, namely, that China is the place of origin of this opium which finds its way into the Philippine Islands. In other words, the drug is manufactured in that country and no doubt through the medium of a big organisation or organisations, smuggled into regions where its entry is supposed to be strictly prohibited. Here in Hongkong also we know from actual experience the difficulties of keeping out the illicit drug. This is an aspect of the question which will not fail to impress itself on the League of Nations Commission now in the East. No doubt the facts unearthed by these investigators will shatter the argument which has so often been put forward by Chinese delegates at Geneva that China is the victim of other nations rather than herself the sinner. One thing that can be said of Hongkong, and Britain generally, is that we have lived up to our obligations in this matter. Indeed, we have gone much further than we are strictly required to do. If China would only fulfil her own promises and not be content with merely framing edicts which are never enforced, a big step forward would be taken in bringing the traffic under reasonable control.

Labour's Difficulties.

While domestic difficulties have brought a rising volume of criticism to contrast with the enthusiasm which greeted the advent of the Labour Government and its initial wave of success, it is equally obvious that there is no movement of opinion against it in the country at present. The electorate would not view with pleasure any step that would precipitate a general election. The feeling rather is that Mr. Ramsay MacDonald has not yet had an opportunity of proving the wisdom of his policies, and that this should be accorded. This attitude is being strongly reflected in the House of Commons to-day. The current session has been extraordinarily quiet up to the present and it would be a mistake to suppose that the Naval Conference provides the sole explanation. We may expect livelier times when the time comes round for Budget. The Government has passed Bills increasing the number of widows entitled to pensions and has extended the benefits under the Unemployment Insurance Bill, at a cost to the Exchequer of approximately £20,000,000. Both these measures are good things. The Government, in a small way, is carrying out the principle that the State is responsible for the welfare of all its citizens, and the principle could be extended much further with advantage if the country was in the financial position to do so. But all good things have to be paid for, and Mr. Snowden can hardly avoid adding to taxation, even while he may budget to save considerable sums on the Defence Services. In some quarters it is argued that this mere possibility has had the effect of curbing enterprise and has contributed to the growing figures of unemployment. In spite of Mr. Thomas's efforts to effect reductions, but there is one saving grace in the present situation, and the bulk of the people of the country have already recognised it. The Government is trying hard to do things. Sometimes in their hurry their proposals have not been well conceived. But they continue to handle vigorously every problem that comes within their ken. The mistake of the Baldwin Administration was that it seldom attempted anything, and the nature of its Opposition in the present Parliament suggests that the Conservative Party has not yet discarded the habit of "Wait and See." The Labour Government, therefore, is safely ensconced until the Autumn. The first months of the Labour regime has been aptly described as the honeymoon period. It is over but is still remains to be seen if the period of adjustment is to be survived.

Appearing before Mr. Whyte Smith at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning on a charge of being in unlawful possession of two pairs of galoshes, a Chinese remarked that he had taken them from a ship on which he was formerly employed. His Worship remarked that that was more serious than the offence with which he was charged, and imposed a fine of $10.

When charged before the Hon. Commr. G. F. Hole, at the Marine Court this morning, with failing to take out a licence, the mistress of a boat told his Worship that she had no money to get one. A police officer, however, stated that she had $5.50 in her possession when arrested and a licence cost only $1.75. Defendant was fined $2, with the alternative of two days' hard labour.

Sentence of two months' hard labour was imposed by Mr. Whyte Smith at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning on a Chinese who admitted snatching a ten-cent piece from the stall of an old woman-hawker in Pakhoi Street. On being informed that the defendant was sentenced to fourteen days on January 15, last, his Worship remarked that that gave the theft a much more serious appearance.

"RED" PRESS ANGRY.

"MORNING POST" IN A CARTOON.

Riga, Jan. 6.

The British protests against the Soviet war on religion are finding an echo in the Moscow Press.

The Izvestia, for instance, has a caricature of God with a pipe in his mouth and the Morning Post in his hands. He is represented as saying: "I do not exist either in force or in truth, but only in the Morning Post."

Only now does the Pravda report the recent mass meeting of protest at the Albert Hall, entitled: "Anti Soviet propaganda." It declares that representatives of the British ruling classes are pouring mud and dirt over the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics.

It abuses especially the speech of the Chief Rabbi, and gives at the facts given by Viscount Brentford. It describes such protests as anti-Soviet propaganda, and states that reference to them is to be made in a Note to the British Ambassador.

Pravda also states that there is at present an international reactionary movement—with official personages in important political circles at its head, and with a central organisation in London—which is attempting to turn the rest of Europe away from Russia. The British Government, it adds, is in close relation with this organisation.

The Ekonomicheskaya Zhizn prints a message of welcome to the Daily Worker, and states that all the members of the British Communist party have been mobilised for the distribution of the paper in all important railway stations and in all large factories.

The same paper makes the assertion that the Daily Worker will overcome all difficulties and will be a success.

Pravda ironically reports the Prince of Wales voyage to Africa and mocks at the publicity given in the English papers about his comforts during the voyage.

GALLANT TEN OF THE STAGE.

ALL THAT WAS LEFT OF THE HUNDRED.

London, Jan. 6.

Ten amateur turns took the stage at Collins's Music Hall, last night, on Saturday night, after the gallery had been specially warned to behave itself.

They were the doughty survivors of about 100 who, throughout the week, braved the lusty Cockney audiences in a "Do-As-You-Please" competition for prizes of £10, £3 and £1.

These humble aspirants to fame were mostly men in plain workaday garb or women who appeared to have come straight "on" from the family stopping. Practically all were "locals" who had rehearsed their number on the front parlour piano.

The Silent "Bird."

So well did they acquit themselves that not one got the "bird"—a popular pet at Collins's, where, if the audience does not like a turn, it just "ups an' sez so."

They sang of husbands who had gone away and left them "blue" of Broadway Babies, of the homestead in Sleepy Valley with "Roses round the door and kiddles on the floor," of Mrs. Moore who had to be told not to "have any more."

Two fellows, who might have been plumbers or gas-fitters, blew heartily into mouth-organs attached to trumpets. There was a youngster in a top hat who sang "Hello, Sunshine" to the utter joy of all the other youngsters in the fourpenny gallery, a bobbed-haired girl who sang "I can't give you anything but love, Baby," and two fine strapping girls who danced and did the splits.

Eventually first and second prizes were compounded for division between a neat little step-dancer, Albert Terry by name, and the two strapping girls, Terrell and Watson, while young Florrie Gardner, of the bobbed head, took third.

SWEDISH TELEPHONE COMPANY.

EXTENT OF INTERNATIONAL ACTIVITY.

The L. M. Ericsson Telephone Company in Stockholm now issues a report on the number of its automatic telephone exchanges and lines installed in different countries. The report shows that the Ericsson exchanges in operation or in the course of construction amount to 107 in 16 different countries in practically all parts of the world.

The total number of lines of the 107 exchanges are 164,290, while 237,820 are in the course of construction. The final capacity of these exchanges, when fully built out, amounts to 1,668,700 lines.

He Very Idea!

During the hearing of an assault case, in the court at Port Arthur (Ontario), the Crown Attorney, Mr. Langworthy, invited a woman plaintiff to demonstrate how the defendant assaulted her.

The woman complied to such good purpose and pinched the Crown Attorney so vigorously about the head and shoulders that he cried out to the court attendants for help.

"I think I'll have a hair of the dog that bit me," said the reveller the morning after.

"Yes, sir," said the barman, eyeing his customer critically. "What kind of a dog was it?" A Great Dane!

About fifteen minutes yesterday three men entered 290, Temple Street, and robbed the inmates of property to the value of $5.50. One of the men, who was armed with a dagger, had climbed over the verandah, and after holding up the only occupant of the floor, admitted two other men. The victim was bound and gagged, and guarded by one of the robbers while the other two searched the premises.

WHO WAS.....

AEDIPUS?

It was a terrible destiny which fate imposed on Aedipus—no less a thing, in fact, than that he should slay his father and marry his mother!

His father Laius, warned by the oracle, tried to defeat the gods by letting the child perish in infancy, but the slave commissioned to do the deed relented, and saved his life.

Aedipus grew up to be a fine strong man. When travelling in a foreign country he fulfilled the first prophecy of the oracle by killing his father in a quarrel, not knowing who he had struck, and then he made his way to Thebes, where he performed such great services to the citizens that he was given the dominion, together with Jocasta, the widow of Laius, for wife, thereby fulfilling the second part of the prophecy.

Aedipus and Jocasta have four children before the terrible truth is revealed, whereupon Aedipus is driven forth by his sons to die in exile.

The story, a very popular one with poets and dramatists, is enshrined in the works of Aeschylus and Sophocles, while Aedipus himself has given his name to a technical term in modern psychology.

GOD, MAN AND THE UNIVERSE.

LAST NIGHT'S CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LECTURE.

HEALING AND PRAYER.

There was a large gathering at the City Hall last night, when the Hon. William E. Brown, C.S.B., of Los Angeles, California, Member of the Board of Lectureship of the Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., gave an illuminating lecture on "Christian Science: The Truth about God, Man and the Universe." Mr. A. Brearley presided and introduced the lecturer.

The lecturer said, in part: Something over nineteen centuries ago a Roman governor propounded to the Master of men the most important question of all time, namely: "What is truth?" The Bible does not record Jesus' answer to this question and for centuries mortals have been seeking a satisfactory solution of Plato's query. In talking with his disciples Jesus declared concerning God and the real man, "Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free." Every afflicted mortal is still asking with Plato, "What is truth?" and Christian Science brings you the answer to-night.

God the Only Cause.

In endeavouring to comprehend the truth of being it will be necessary to consider first the source and origin of all truth—a source that is commonly referred to by Christendom as God, creator or first Cause. In the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," Mrs. Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, defines God as Infinite Mind, an all-pervading intelligence in which all things live, move and have their being. Since God is all, as the Scriptures iterate and reiterate, it follows that Mind is all, and this fact is the basic stone in the foundation of Christian Science. As God, infinite Mind, is the only cause or creator, it logically follows that all God creates must be like Himself, wholly and changelessly perfect.

Spiritual Understanding.

Because God is the infinite and all-inclusive Mind there resides in this Mind all perfection, wisdom, beauty, culture, prosperity, harm, joy, abundance and joy. Since this is true the quickest way to possess these qualities is to become identified with this Mind. Solomon said in speaking of the blessings which come to one who thus identifies himself: "Happy is the man that findeth wisdom, and the man that getteth understanding. For the merchandise of silver, and the gain thereof than fine gold. She is more precious than rubies; and all the things thou canst desire are not to be compared unto her. Length of days is in her right hand; and in her left hand riches and honour. Her ways are ways of pleasantness, and all her paths are peace. She is a tree of life to them that lay hold upon her: and happy is every one that retaineth her." and David said, "I understand more than the ancients, because I keep thy precepts."

Salvation.

From what was said of God and his universe it will be seen that what is called salvation is really a process of awakening to spiritual facts, the gaining of spiritual vision. The prophet declared, "Where there is no vision, the people perish." There are many references in the Bible to this process of awakening. The Psalmist sang, "I shall be satisfied, when I awake, with thy likeness," and Paul declared, "Awake thou that sleepest, and Christ shall give thee light."

Healing and Prayer.

Much that I have told you about salvation will receive assent from those who do not yet know of Christian Science, and who do not realize that the healing of sin, disease and all mortal discord is inseparably linked with true salvation—indeed this healing constitutes the proof and assurance that we are working out our problem along correct lines. If one is in doubt as to the soundness of his spiritual convictions all that is necessary is to ascertain what the Master declared upon this subject in his final instructions to his disciples, as recorded in the sixteenth chapter of Mark. Jesus said to them when speaking of the healing of sin and disease, "And these signs shall follow them that believe." Please note that he did not say that these signs might follow, or may follow, or occasionally follow, but that these signs shall follow, imperatively, definitely and unequivocally. These signs are to follow them that believe. Now is it not logical that if such signs do not follow religious belief that there must be something inadequate or incomplete about such belief?

This measure of proof established by the Master is supplemented by a vigorous declaration of James, who said, "Even so faith, if it hath not

RED & YELLOW FOR NATIONALISTS.

ARMY CHANGES ITS COLOURS AT WUCHOW.

AVOIDING CONFUSION.

A curious development has arisen at Wuchow, according to messages received in the Colony. This is the substitution of red and yellow for the colours of the Nationalist Army there, in place of red and white.

The reported explanation of the change is most interesting: It seems that in recent fighting at Kwei Yuen and Ping Nam, both sides, Nationalists and rebels, wore the same colours.

This must have caused a good deal of confusion, and it is possible that the reverses suffered by the Nationalist troops were in part due to this circumstance. At any rate the change of colours is said to be the outcome of the reverses experienced by the loyal troops.

As to the progress of the campaign, latest reports state that General Chang Fat-Kwei, the leader of the Ironsides, is taking his troops across the Kwangtung border, his objective apparently being Kengmoon.

NEW ATTACKS ON AIR RECORD.

FRANCE, ITALY, AND BRITAIN.

London, Jan. 7.

Plans are maturing for further attacks on the world's air speed record, which now stands to the credit of Squadron Leader Orlbar (Great Britain) with 357.7 m.p.h.

France and Italy have been preparing for some time to attack this record, and reports which reached London yesterday suggest that attempts may be made within six weeks if there is a settled period of suitable weather.

Should either the French or the Italians beat the record, it is understood that a further attempt will be made by the British pilots, Squadron Leader Orlbar and Flight Lieutenant Stainforth, over the speed course at Calshot. During Squadron Leader Orlbar's recent successful attempt he experienced bad vibration when the machine was travelling at top speed on the course. At times it was so bad and he was so violently shaken that he could see nothing.

The cause of this vibration has not been determined, but the aircrew is suspected, and on any future attempt different aircrews would be tried. If the vibration can be overcome, it is expected that the S6 will be capable of a much higher speed. An extra eight or ten miles an hour is spoken of as certain.

works, is dead, being alone. . . . She saw the faith without thy works, and I will show thee my faith by my works."

Christian Science.

Christian Science has come to reestablish the Christianity of Jesus with its healing and redemptive work. The proof that it is doing this is evidenced by the ever-increasing numbers of erstwhile suffering and discordant mortals who now rejoice in health and freedom.

Christian Science is now leaving thought in all the various activities of earth—in business, art, commerce and government. It is correcting and improving all the affairs of men, making better men and women, causing them to conduct their lives in accord with divine Principle. In so doing Christian Science is not only benefiting the individual but also rapidly laying a foundation for the universal brotherhood of man, a prolonged process possibly, but after all the only way to permanent harmony in world affairs.

The Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science.

The early life of Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, shows step by step how she was prepared through spiritual experiences to receive the revelation of what she later named Christian Science. Carefully reared and educated in a Christian environment, she early became an earnest student of the Bible, and had often wondered why its promises concerning healing were not being fulfilled in this age.

In after life, while suffering from the result of an accident pronounced by the attending physician as fatal, she turned unreservedly to God and His promises and was instantly healed. This experience convinced Mrs. Eddy that the Principle of Christian healing is ever operative and needs but to be understood to utilize it in this and every age.

SUBMARINE'S USE RESTRICTED.

French Resolution

The French resolution was that the Committee should prepare an agreement, open for signature to all naval Powers, forbidding submarines to act towards merchant ships otherwise than in strict conformity with the rules, either present or future, to be observed by surface warships.

Mr. Alexander opened the discussion on submarines. He said that British experience in wartime showed that submarines were valueless for coastal defence, and they were largely used for offensive purposes in commerce raiding. Britain needed defensive vessels more than any Power, but was prepared unreservedly to surrender such protection as submarines afforded.

If the conference failed to agree to the abolition, Britain would endeavour to limit their size and numbers, and would propose very definite conditions to prevent their employment as commerce destroyers. Britain would seek to revive the Washington 1922 agreement regulating submarines used to attack merchantmen.

American Viewpoint.

Mr. Stimson said that years of reflection had crystallized all over the world into a conviction that the humane use of submarines should cease. The time had come to deal frankly with the question. The argument that the submarine was a purely defensive weapon was difficult to reconcile with the offensive use made of this weapon at great distances from home ports. The argument as to its cheapness was discounted by the fact that, ton for ton, it was three or four times more costly than the largest warships.

It seemed clear that in any future war, those employing submarines would be under a strong, and perhaps irresistible, temptation to use them in any way most effective for immediate purposes, regardless of consequences.

He said that for this conference to sanction a weapon whose abuses were directly responsible for bringing the western world into the greatest European war in history would be a travesty of the purposes for which it had met.

Japanese Statement.

Admiral Takarabe (Japan) emphasised the need of Japan, with widely scattered islands, for a comparatively inexpensive defence weapon, like the submarine, but Japan would heartily support the proposal to outlaw the "illegal" use of a legitimate and defensive agency in war.

France's Opinion.

Admiral Leygues (France) at some length argued that the submarine was a warship, like any other, and asked whether it must disappear because it disturbed the habits and traditions of surface ships.

The French Government was of opinion that unrestricted submarine warfare against trade should be outlawed, but the right of visit, search and seizure should be exercised similarly to surface ships. France was ready to pledge herself by treaty, relying confidently on the discipline of her sailors.

Italian Query.

Signor Grandi asked whether it was impossible to find a solution

ARMED ROBBERY IN YAUMATI.

THIEVES MAKE A VERY SMALL HAUL.

MEN WITH DAGGERS.

Although going to extreme measures in carrying out their project, three men who perpetrated an armed robbery at Yaumati yesterday only succeeded in making away with some clothing and a piece of jewellery, which together are valued in the sum of $9.50.

Their crime was carried out on the usual lines. Yip Lau, aged 20, caretaker of the Hop Yick Company, 286, Temple Street, Yaumati, reports that he was in the coolie quarters about 12.30 p.m. when he heard the noise of someone pushing open the verandah window. He was alone in the house at the time and he went out of the cubicle and met a Chinese, whose age was about 40 years. The intruder pointed a dagger at him and then opened the stairs door to admit two other men.

At the point of the dagger, Yip was forced back into his cubicle, where the men tied his hands behind him and gagged him with a towel. After this they ransacked the place and stole clothing, which included three suits, as well as a silver wristlet watch.

Another Case.

The first intimation of the occurrence of an armed robbery in a village in the Tsau Wan District was received by the local authorities at noon to-day, although the incident was stated to have taken place at 3 o'clock this morning.

In the brief report circulated from the Tsau Wan Police Station at noon only meagre details were given, the outrage being described as an attempted armed robbery and wounding. It was stated that two persons were victimised, one being a duck farmer, although no mention of the nature of wounds to either of these men was given in the first report.

Five men were stated to have been concerned in the robbery and they were said to have been armed with bamboo poles and a knife. The scene of the outrage was Ha Kwa Chung village and after the occurrence the men made good their escape by sampan, calling in the direction of Cheung Sha Wan.

covering, on the one hand, the abolition of submarines, and leading, on the other hand, to a substantial reduction in armaments, simultaneously providing for the abolition of capital ships.

THE CHEUNG CHAU MURDER.

THREE CHINESE COMMITTED TO SESSIONS.

ALL DENY COMPLICITY.

The case in which U Sang, Li Sze and Yip-wan are charged with the murder of a girl, Kwok Ching-mui, and also with robbery on board a sampan at Cheung Chau, was again before Mr. J.S. MacLaren, Assistant District Officer, New Territories, in the District Court, Post Office Building, this morning. Accused, after each had made a statement, were committed to the Sessions.

Accused were brought up a week ago when it was stated that an important witness for the Crown had not put in an appearance and there was good reason to believe that he was detained in Chinese territory by friends of the accused.

This morning, after Mr. Somerset, Fitzroy, for the Crown, had stated that the witness had not appeared, his Worship said he thought there was sufficient evidence before the Court to warrant commitment on both charges and he would commit all three men.

In making a statement, U Sang said:—"We engaged Kwok Ching-mui's boat for a picnic, but when we heard a shout we jumped into the sea. We were playing and she gave me the bangs. I smacked her and she cried. I jumped into the sea and swam back to my master's boat. I do not know how the girl died. I did not murder her and I did not rob her."

Li Sze said:—"I did not murder her. I was sitting in the bow of the boat. I know nothing about the rattle bangs."

Yip Shu-wan said:—"The first and second accused went ashore first and I followed them and was buying clothes in the street. I took the same boat with them to go back to my master's boat. When we had rowed up to my master's boat the girl shouted 'Save life!' I did not know what the matter was. I heard the people on a fishing junk shout 'Strike them!' and I got frightened and jumped into the water. When I jumped into the water I did not know whether the girl was alive or dead."

GENEVA INSTITUTE.

PLANNED BY SWEDISH NOBEL PRIZE WINNER.

The Geneva Post-Graduate Institute of International Studies, founded in 1927 by Professor Robert Barany of the Swedish University of Upsala for promoting the knowledge of international law and social conditions, has now received the magnificent gift of £170,000, spread over a period of ten years, from the Rockefeller Foundation in New York, according to a recent statement by Professor Barany himself.

The Institute, which serves the purpose of training future statesmen, diplomats and others in social and political science, will now be enabled to increase its staff of teachers thanks to the American gift.

In announcing this fact Professor Barany, who won the Nobel prize in medicine in 1915, pays high tribute to the energy of Mr. W. Rappard, formerly vice-chancellor of the University of the University of Geneva, now the Director of the Institute. The professor emphasizes that his plan, which only four years ago was looked upon as a Utopian, was realized largely thanks to the efforts of Mr. Rappard.

ONLY THREE MATCHES YESTERDAY.

A persistent drizzle made conditions anything but pleasant for the contestants in the Hongkong Cricket Club tennis tournament which was continued yesterday.

In the Open Singles, D. S. Green and A. H. Johnson found themselves well matched, the contest running to four sets, before Johnson claimed the honours at 6-3, 5-7, 6-2, 6-3. Both players drove well on the forehand, but displayed apparent weaknesses at the net.

The match between Y. Sakji and Capt. E. C. Etherington, which was left unfinished on Monday, was decided yesterday, when the Japanese player captured the fourth set to win 6-0, 6-2, 12-14, 6-3. Sakji's steadiness turned the balance of play in his favour.

The full results of yesterday's matches were:

Open Singles.—A. H. Johnson beat D. S. Green 6-3, 5-7, 6-2, 6-3; Y. Sakji beat Capt. E. C. Etherington 6-0, 6-2, 12-14, 6-3.

Friedrichshafen, Jan. 1.

The last days of 1929 saw the completion of the new wharf. It is a gigantic iron structure erected by the Gutehoffnungshutte of Oberhausen. It stands close to the wharf in which "Graf Zeppelin" was built, and is now stowed away for the winter season.

The space available for building the new airship Z128 measures 46 metres in height, 50 metres in breadth, and 248 metres in length, while the whole building measures 52 metres in height, 59 metres in width, and 253 metres in length.

The new airship will not be of the slender grace of "Graf Zeppelin." It will have a proportionately shorter and sturdier body. It will contain nearly the double quantity of gas. The enormous doors again open towards the west, facing the wind, which is most frequently blowing. This time they do not stand at right angles to the walls, but form a semi-circle, in order better to break the force of the wind.

SOCCER CONTROL IN HONGKONG.

IMPORTANT DISCUSSION AT COUNCIL MEETING.

LAU MAU SUSPENSION.

[By "Wanderer".]

The action of the South China Branch of the China National Athletic Federation in playing Lau Mau in recent matches for the championship of China when he was under suspension by the Hongkong Football Association, gave rise to an important debate when the Council of the H.K.F.A. met last night.

Mr. J. Ormiston raised the point, describing the action as one of gross discourtesy to the Association, pointing out that the evidence before the committee which dealt with the incident leading to the suspension of Lau Mau and T. Pile, of Kowloon, made it absolutely clear that Lau Mau was the aggressor. Yet Pile was prevented from going to Shanghai with the Hongkong Inter-Port Team, while Lau Mau played in the Chinese Inter-Port in Hongkong. The circumstances justified a very strong protest to the Federation.

Chinese Attitude.

Mr. H. K. Lee, who is a member of the Council as well as an official of the Federation, pointed out that the Council had no right of protest. The Federation was an entirely distinct organisation and had no reason to recognise the H.K.F.A. The players of South China and Chinese Athletic were affiliated to both organisations. For the Association to claim sole rights over those men was a matter which could not be within contemplation. He suggested that the Association should approach the Federation with a view to co-operation in such matters, to prevent a recurrence of an undesirable incident. He declined to admit that the Federation was wrong, though the clubs concerned might be held responsible. He thought there would be a ready response to an invitation to co-operation.

Mr. James said that the Council were the governing body of football in the Colony as long as they chose to be. But if they overlooked the action of players under their control who played for other organisations without first obtaining formal permission, the Council forfeited their authority.

Further discussion concerned the correctness of official recognition of the Federation. The Federation's soccer rules depart in important particulars from the Football Association's rules of the game, and it is arguable whether the real attitude of the Association should not be to refuse permission to their registered players to compete in matches played under conditions so opposed to F.A. practice.

Mr. Lee's Mistake.
Mr. Lee's attitude was the correct one, except on the very important point of control of players.

He denied the sole right of the Council over players registered with the H.K.F.A. If the matter was forced to an issue, Mr. Lee would find the position entirely different. The Association would merely inform the Chinese players that if they played for the Federation they would be debarred from football under the auspices of the H.K.F.A. They would have to recognise the full authority of the H.K.F.A. or withdraw.

The Council decided to draw the attention of the Chinese clubs to their serious breach of the rules, and to write to the Federation inviting their co-operation in the matters of suspensions etc.

Personally, I doubt if the invitation was at all necessary or desirable. Incidentally, the Council, in the discussion, appeared to lose sight of the fact that Lau Mau had some personal responsibility.

Other Business.

The Council ordered a replay in respect of the Junior Shield, between the Somerset and the Navy, the Somerset having played, at least one, Senior player in their team.

The Council also decided to present A. Gosano, of the Club de Recreo, with a special blazer in recognition of his five consecutive appearances for Hongkong in Inter-Port matches.

SETTLING THE POINT IN GOLF.

Pushing the Ball.

One of the ironclad rules of the game bars the scraping in of putts. The ball must be fairly struck at with the head of the club, not pushed, scraped nor pooned. The penalty for a breach of this rule is loss of the hole.

Innocent Cheat

By Ruth Dewey Croves

THIS HAS HAPPENED.

Helen felt very unhappy when her classmates accuse her of being in love with her handsome guardian, Leonard Brent. But she represents all that she knows of home and family and she loves him blindly.

A chance meeting with a dying beggar, Charles Owens Nellis, causes Brent to change all his plans regarding Helen's future. Before the man dies, he secures facts and evidence which he is able to corroborate to some extent by a visit to Yonkers.

On graduating, Helen reminds Brent of his promise to reveal her parentage and is amazed when he informs her that she is heiress of a millionaire, Cyril K. Cunningham, and that he promised her parents to take her to her grandfather when she was 18. They go to Yonkers and Brent introduces her to Cunningham as his granddaughter. He offers as proof the locket containing a picture of Evangeline Cunningham which he had taken from the dying Nellis.

Helen investigates the story but she is being under suspicion. Eager to win her favor, Cunningham presents her with a beautiful car which she drives everywhere. One day she accidentally strikes a young woman who has been treated at the hospital. Helen goes to the girl's home to bring her mother and brother.

CHAPTER XVI.

Helen felt like a prisoner at the bar. The brother knew, she was certain, that she would not be here unless she had had something to do with the accident.

She turned a little cold and her hands trembled in spite of her effort to remain calm and return his steady glance unwaveringly. Because of this she raised her head with a touch of defiance.

"I struck her with my car," she said icily.

The brother reached out and caught her arm. Helen winced.

"Forgive me," he apologized, recovering himself instantly. "Eva is very dear to me."

All Helen's hardness vanished. "Need I say I'm sorry?" she asked. "How badly is she hurt?"

"She'll be all right soon," Helen told him. "Dr. Parkley pronounced her in no danger, but she is in pain." Her voice broke a trifle and she got out her handkerchief to wipe her eyes.

Bob forbore to question her further.

"Will you drive my car back to the hospital?" Helen asked him.

"I haven't had a great deal of driving experience," he told her. "It's a standard shift," Helen said. "I wish you would."

"Perhaps Mom would feel safer," he answered, without meaning to wound.

Helen flushed. "She doesn't know," she said. "Please don't tell her until she has seen your sister."

Mrs. Ennis came in just then and Bob nodded in silent answer to Helen's request.

Without comment other than: "Shall I drive for you?" he took the wheel when they got to her car.

Mrs. Ennis remembered then to introduce them. "Miss Brent, this is my son, Robert."

They smiled at each other faintly and Helen looked away.

On the way to the hospital Mrs. Ennis pressed her for information about the accident and at last Helen sent an appealing glance to Bob.

He wasn't looking at her and Helen could not tell what moved him to help her. "You will get yourself excited, mother," he said. "Wait until you've seen Eva and then Miss Brent will tell us all about it."

Mrs. Ennis choked back her questions. "I guess I'd better keep calm for Eva's sake," she said. "My poor girl, my poor little girl!"

"Now, now, mother," Bob soothed her; "they won't let you near her if you can't control yourself."

Helen found herself listening to him as though his words were intended for her. There was in his voice a magic quality, the strength that commands and the tenderness that protects. It stirred a response in her that was vaguely troubling.

Mrs. Ennis subsided and the drive was continued in silence.

At the hospital the mother went alone to her daughter's room. The brother would be admitted later, the nurse in charge told them. Bob waited downstairs with Helen.

It was a wretched period for her. Suddenly, after a few rapid strides up and down the room, Bob had started to question her. She found herself telling him precisely how the accident happened—except that she could not explain what mental disturbance had affected her driving.

As her answers came, drawn from her almost against her will, she began to see herself through her inquisitor's eyes.

Rockless driving! He did not say it, but the charge was in the earnestness of his expression, in his gestures, in his manner.

"You raise hell with everything," the young man went on, growing a bit furious. "Here's Eva, poor kid, been slaving all her life to be a violinist and now now maybe you've crippled her hands!"

"Oh no," Helen cried out. "Well, it isn't your fault that you haven't. Her luck held, that was all. But you might have ruined her life. Why? Just because you've a speed mania and money to satisfy it with a fast car. And nothing to do but tear around the country looking for thrills."

Helen was slightly gaping now, but she did notice that he made a remarkably striking picture in his anger.

She forgot that he was merely scolding a girl for her irresponsibility, and that she was that girl. Her mind had become a sensitive plate upon which his personality was etching itself for all time to come. His personality and his appearance.

Commonplace, perhaps, in the brownness of his hair, the blueness of his eyes, but lifted into a class of exceptional distinction by the fine cut of his features and the verile quality of his mind that revealed itself in his flashing expressions and vibrant voice.

He was still tirading against modern youth while Helen sat speechless, when someone came in to tell him he could go to his sister's room.

"I'll wait to take your mother back," Helen said to him.

"Don't bother," he replied curtly. "We'll take a taxi."

Helen bit her underlip until it hurt. "But I must see your mother again," she protested.

"I don't think she will want to see you when she knows that it was you who ran Eva down," Bob paused at the door to say.

Nevertheless Helen waited, held by a penitence that made made her wish to suffer to the fullest for her fault.

She was prepared, when Mrs. Ennis returned, to face a second tirade, or at least a harsh attitude. Instead Eva's mother came to her and tried to thank her for her kindness.

Bob stood by, scowling darkly. "I know you couldn't help it," Mrs. Ennis said chokingly.

Helen's own eyes filled suddenly with tears. "I want to do everything I can for her," she said feelingly. "It was my fault and I'm dreadfully sorry. She isn't suffering so much now, is she?"

"No, she's quiet. And we will soon be able to take her home."

The mother gave Helen's hand a friendly pressure and the girl repaid her with a swift embrace. It was the first she'd ever given to a mother, and though the impulse had torn through the effect of its simple pleasure.

"You will let me drive you home?" Helen pleaded.

"Of course we will," Mrs. Ennis answered hastily. "But you need a bit of looking after yourself. I think perhaps Bob had better drive you home."

Helen carefully avoided looking at Bob. "I'm cured of reckless driving," she said soberly.

She rather fancied she heard a faint "Humph" from Bob but still she did not look at him.

"Let's go then," Mrs. Ennis suggested. "Bob must have his supper and father will be wondering what's become of us. We should have left a message."

"I've telephoned," Bob told her, and Helen remarked to herself that he had an extremely cool head for one who could become so heated while indicting another person.

Bob did not offer to take the wheel on the return drive and Helen felt that he was testing her nerve. For the first time in her life she called upon the strength that is derived from pride. She set her hands firmly on the polished wood and willed her trembling to cease.

It didn't cease but she drove creditably, and though white-hot points seemed to break through to the surface of her entire body she yielded not one outward sign of her nervousness.

But when she slid the car to a stop before the Ennis home the strain of relief rose from the bottom of her heart. She barely managed to suppress it.

"You will stay for a cup of tea?" Mrs. Ennis invited as Bob got out of the car and turned to assist her. Helen shook her head. "My grandma's family is waiting for me at home," she explained.

Mrs. Ennis did not repeat the invitation. She knew that Helen did not belong to the modest social world in which she and her children moved. Helen's lavish provision for Eva's comfort was sufficient proof to her that Helen belonged to a wealthy family. She had been uneasy about offering her humble hospitality. Helen's refusal lifted a burden from her mind.

"But you will go to see Eva?" she urged. "She wants to thank you for your kindness."

Again Helen heard a faintly contemptuous sound from Bob. Her face flushed hotly. With a quick movement she prepared to drive off but his voice stopped her. What he said came as a most unexpected surprise.

GARRISON NEWS.

DEPARTURE OF THE TROOPSHIP.

The troopship City of Marseilles sailed at noon yesterday for Shanghai. Before leaving the Colony, opportunity was again taken to give the on-going passengers a route march through Kowloon, as a leg-stretcher.

The brass and pipe bands of the 3/15 Punjab Regiment played selections from the march at Holt's Wharf prior to the ship's departure. The transport will return to Hongkong on the homeward journey, on the 25th of this month.

Arrivals.

Captain H. C. De La Bere, R.A.S.C., and Lieut. R. A. Harris, R.A.S.C., arrived in Hongkong on Monday from Home, disembarking from the City of Marseilles.

Rugby Match.

The Rugby match which was to have been played on Monday between the 8th Fifties and the K.O.S.B. will be played at 3.30 p.m. to-day on the Club ground. The following will represent the K.O.S.B.:

Pte. Laidlaw, Pte. King, Lt. Maxwell, L/Sgt. Marshall, Pte. Hillop, Lt. Tregear, Lt. Mattingley, Lt. Scott-Elliott, Lt. Welch, Sgt. Stewart, L/Sgt. Richardson, L/Sgt. Hawlett, Sgt. Bruno, Pte. Woolley, L/Cpl. McCudden, Reserve—Sgt. Hope, Ptes. Findlayson, Twiss and Smith.

Hockey.

The following will represent the Army versus the Club on the U.S.I.C. ground to-day in the second round of the Sim Shield:

Lt. Barrett, Pte. Martin, Capt. Huxford, A. N. Oiler, Major Philby, Capt. Strachey, Pte. Denmead, Sgt. Kingsland, Sgt. Skipp, A. N. Oiler, L/Cpl. Hill.

Should the Army win to-day, the Sim Shield will have been won, but if the Club win, and later defeat the Navy, they may be able to tie with the Army, who have beaten the Club and the Navy in the first round.

Cricket.

The R.A.M.C. cricket eleven, which already had a good series of wins to its credit, has apparently been considerably strengthened by the arrival of Sgt. Patterson, who arrived on Monday, and turned out against the R. E. and R. Signals team yesterday. The Engineers batted first but could only make 55 runs against the deadly bowling of Collins and Joyce, the former having three wickets for 7 runs and the latter six for 19, this out of slightly more than 5 overs. Only Earl, with 14, reached double figures for the Engineers.

The R.A.M.C. started their innings disastrously, two wickets falling before a run was scored, and the third wicket after only 5 runs were shown on the board. However, Patterson and Davies got together, and the former put on 53 runs in a very short time, included in which were seven fours. Davies obtained a useful 20, twelve of which were from boundary hits. The innings was closed with the score reading 5 wickets for 95 runs.

Hongkong Area Football.

H. Q. Wing, K.O.S.B. were too strong for the 22nd Heavy Battery, R.A., who were defeated at Soekump yesterday afternoon by seven goals to one. Teams:

12th (H) Bty, R.A.—Moore, Haywood, Rawlings, Hughes, Watson, Wilkins, Hall, Bridgeman, Allen, Taylor, Finn.

H.Q. K.O.S.B.—Smith, Crowe, Skeggs, Everest, Craig, Lavelle, Rhodes, Eggie, Crawley, Milligan, Alexander.

The Hongkong Hockey Club "A" team on their own ground yesterday played a goalless draw with a Kai Tak Air Force team.

CAPTIVE'S RELEASE ARRANGED.

returned to Shanghai, and from there wrote to Mr. Chan, telling him to carry on the negotiations.

Ransom Price Reduced.

"On January 3, I again returned to Hongkong, being accompanied on the present occasion by Mr. Lui Chau-yan. We lived at the Kwong Tai Loy Boarding House. I again saw the first accused on the evening of the 3rd, at the Tai Loy Boarding House, having been previously informed of his presence there by a friend whom I left behind to carry on the negotiations. That was Mr. Chu Man-king. We met the first accused as he was coming out of the Tai Loy Boarding House. The recognition was mutual."

Witness described what ensued at a number of subsequent interviews. He told the first accused that he had brought down only $9,000 after the latter had said that the sum now decided upon was $11,000. A further sum of $1,000 was to be paid, it was understood, as brokerage, to the first accused. At one of these interviews, the letter sent to the captive Hsu was brought back by the accused, with this difference, that on it also appeared a reply from Mr. Hsu, expressing his sense of appreciation that his two friends should have interested themselves in his case, and his hope that the money would be forthcoming. It was in a room at the Empress Hotel that the final settlement was reached, the money being paid over to the first accused in the presence of witness and his two companions.

The hearing was adjourned.

ADMISSION OF GUILT.

Two charges of theft of clothing from houses in Nathan Road, with alternative counts of receiving stolen property, were brought against a Chinese who appeared before Mr. Whyte Smith at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning. The defendant was charged with stealing a counterpane and five articles of clothing, the property of Mrs. H. D. Marcel, of the first floor of 658, Nathan Road, and three pieces of clothing belonging to an amah of the first floor of 654, Nathan Road. Alternative charges of receiving stolen property were brought against the defendant in respect of each theft.

The defendant, in answer to the charges, admitted having stolen the clothing. It was stated by Detective Sergeant Fowle that the defendant was arrested by a detective in the street carrying the bundle of clothes, which were wet. The man was taken back to the Station for enquiries and it was discovered that they had been taken from the verandahs of the houses in question. The defendant had apparently climbed up the water-pipe.

Sentence of three months' hard labour on each of the larceny charges was imposed, the terms to run consecutively.

MISS 1930'S OPINION OF VENUS.

HUGE CROWDS SEE OLD MASTERS.

London, Jan. 6. Although the Italian Art Exhibition at the Royal Academy has only been open for three and a half days, over 24,000 people have passed through the turnstiles. It is anticipated that as the wonders of the exhibition become more widely known the daily rush of visitors will become even greater. The exhibition opened on Wednesday afternoon, and attendances for the four days were:

Wednesday 4,791
Thursday 7,853
Friday (5th day) 2,905
Saturday 8,986

These figures are nearly twice as great as for the corresponding days of the Dutch Exhibition last year. Already, too, the takings are up something like £2,000.

The Girl Who Was Frank.

Saturday afternoon's crowd was the most representative since the opening of the exhibition. Girl typists straight from their offices had come to see for themselves what all this talk about Old Masters really was. Some of them had brought newspaper cuttings about the pictures, and compared the critical notes with the originals.

One wondered how many out of this vast jostling crowd who pushed and elbowed through the galleries really did appreciate the pictures, and how many merely muttered "Marvellous" or "Wonderful colouring" because it seemed the thing to do.

In an attempt to find out how the average visitor reacted to the pictures I stood (writes a representative of The Daily Chronicle) among the throng who lingered by Botticelli's "Birth of Venus," and these are the kind of comments I heard:

"I don't like her feet, do you?"
"The composition is wonderful. Look at the expression in the face of the zephyrs."

"Why, you can see the zephyrs' breath. Venus must be cold!"
"Marvellous—look at the folds of that dress!"

But for real knowledge of pictures it was hard to beat the school boys and girls who dragged with them reluctant parents, while for sincerity I liked the girl who declared openly: "It is too crowded, and I don't understand pictures."

HONGKONG'S NEW TELEPHONES.

Or, again, perhaps, the number may be engaged, in which case an automatic signal informs the calling subscriber.

As a rule, if the telephone is promptly answered, the call takes only a few seconds after the number has been dialed, as the completion of the dialing of the number instantly causes the telephone caller to ring.

It was pointed out this morning that the delay in the installation of the Telephone Company's automatic system was quite unavoidable, and is not due to any serious obstacle.

WHEAT PRICE WAR WITH CANADA.

POOL REFUSING SALE TO EUROPE.

HOPE TO KEEP UP PRICE IN SPITE OF GLUT.

MR. THOMAS'S STAKE.

London, Feb. 11.

Canadian wheat producers are threatened with a staggering blow in the near future as an outcome of the battle over wheat prices which is now proceeding between the British and European purchasers of wheat and the producers of North America, who seek, by withholding supplies, to maintain prices in spite of the existing glut.

The Canadian wheat pool is the most important factor in the struggle at present. The pool controls at least fifty-three per cent. of the wheat surplus which is marketable at the present day, and it embraces 140,000 members who are determined to pursue a policy of "orderly marketing."

Pool in Danger.

The pool has definitely refused to send supplies to Europe at the existing "unreasonably low" price.

Meanwhile, new supplies from the Argentine and Australia will shortly come on the market and the source of supply to Europe may force down prices and inflict a staggering blow on the pool and business in Canada as much "farmer's paper" is in circulation.

Plentiful Stocks in Britain.

The Canadian High Commissioner in London, however, declares that the financial position of the grain firms is "thoroughly sound."

In the meantime, the supplies in Great Britain are extremely large. It is estimated that the stocks are sufficient to last for at least ten weeks.

Bread Prices Down.

The price of the quarter loaf has been reduced by a half-penny. Discussions are proceeding between the Rt. Hon. Mr. J. H. Thomas, the Minister in charge of Employment, and the wheat pool representatives.

Questions on the situation were asked in the House of Commons today.

Canadian Criticisms.

Mr. Thomas was invited to say whether his attention had been drawn to the reports published in Canada that there is an organised campaign by British millers against Canadian wheat. He was also asked what action he proposed to take in view of the harmful reaction of such a campaign on his scheme for the development of trade between Great Britain and Canada.

Mr. Thomas replied by reading a statement by the National Association of Millers of Great Britain, denying the reports and declaring that they were always anxious to purchase Canadian wheat provided the prices approximated to world prices.—Reuter.

NATIVE MUTINY IN INDO-CHINA.

The set of events which turned on the present crisis at Yen-bai, or Yen-bat, is interesting. According to previous news received here, it was recently apprehended that an attack would be made on Hanoi, the capital, itself. This was borne out by a number of discoveries, chief amongst which were cases of bombs found buried in the rice fields around the city.

Scene of Trouble.

Yen-bai, where a mutiny of native troops, assisted by civilians, is now reported to have occurred, is a strategic point on the northern system of railways, being situated half-way between the capital, and Laokay, the French town on the Chinese border which guards the approach by railway from the Yunnan side.

Yen-bai is only twelve hours from the capital.

Connected with the evidence of armed designs on the capital, and also with the consideration that a great deal of the agitation emanated from Chinese sources, the part which Yen-bai is reported to have taken therein is to be regarded seriously.

The "Sharpshooters" referred to in the Reuter's message would be more correctly described as "Irregulars" or "native troops" usually employed for garrison purposes.

Previous Affair.

There is a precedent for this attempt in the affair of 1918, when

BIG SEIZURES OF CONTRABAND.

POLICE MAKE HAULS FROM TWO STEAMERS.

WEAPONS AND WINE.

Two large seizures of contraband goods were made by parties of detectives from the Water Police Station this morning, the more important of the two being a haul of three firearms and over 2,000 rounds of ammunition on board the s.s. Shidzuoka Maru which arrived from the North early this morning.

On the arrival of the Shidzuoka Maru, Detective Sergeant Kellott and a party of detectives went on board to carry out the usual search of passengers' luggage prior to their disembarkation. After a thorough search of the trunks and other containers belonging to the passengers, the police were rewarded by the discovery of a large haul of arms and ammunition.

Concealed in the false bottom of a trunk belonging to a Chinese passenger from America, the police discovered a .Lugar pistol, and an automatic pistol, together with no less than 1,900 rounds of .Lugar ammunition and 870 rounds of automatic ammunition. The owner, who gave his name as Mock Kong, was taken to the Water Police Station and whilst he was being searched the police found a fully-loaded automatic pistol concealed under his girdle.

The man was detained and will appear before the Kowloon Magistrate to-morrow morning.

The second haul comprised a large quantity of dutiable Chinese wine which was found on board the s.s. Sunning after her arrival from Canton where she had gone on arriving from Swatow and Amoy some days ago.

Under Detective Sergeant Humphrys a party of police officers boarded the ship, having previously received information, and found about 60 bottles of dutiable Chinese wine under the control, it is alleged, of a member of the crew who was described as a cook.

After the wine has been analysed, the man, who had since been detained, will be charged before the Kowloon Magistrate.

LET OFF OWING TO TECHNICALITY.

FIVE WOMEN CAUTIONED AT KOWLOON.

Benefitting by a technicality, five Chinese women, who appeared before Mr. Whyte Smith at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning on charges of carrying pigwash through a public place during prohibited hours, were all discharged.

The defendants were stated to have been standing beside their buckets of pigwash awaiting the departure of a dory at the junction of Waterloo and Nathan Roads.

His Worship pointed out that the defendants were charged with carrying the pigwash, and said that he did not think the section under which they were charged covered their standing besides their buckets. He would therefore discharge the defendants with a caution.

political prisoners from a penal settlement at Thai-Nguyen mutinied, killed the French prison officials, and, reinforced by native troops, marched upon the capital. They were within striking distance when French regulars defeated and dispersed them in a number of sanguinary encounters.
